Established 1853.

THE A B C RAILWAY GUIDE

Is, as its name implies, a Complete and Intelligible Guide to Railway Travellers. It has, indeed, become indispensable to all who are in the habit of using any of the several lines that diverge from the Metropolis.

It is the original and the only genuine Work of the kind. It is found in all the Government Offices, in the Clubs, Hotels, Public Libraries, and Reading-rooms, and is fully recognised as an invaluable medium for Advertisements.

To its characteristic advantages is now added a Guide to Strangers in London, including all the principal places of public interest and of public amusement: also a list of London Hotels. Arrangements are in progress for a similar list of Provincial Hotels. The Traveller will thus be furnished at a single glance, both with a Railway and an Hotel Guide, the advantage of which must be obvious to all.

The plan of the Guide is as simple as A B C; the Stations are arranged in alphabetical order, and immediately beneath each are full particulars of all Arrivals and Departures to and from the Metropolis.

Published Monthly, price 6d.

HINTS TO RAILWAY TRAVELLERS.

Before proceeding on your journey, buy a copy of the A B C Railway Guide. There you will find that the Editor has already solved for you the mysteries of Railway complications, and has presented the information you require in a clear and concise form.

Your Luggage should be securely packed in a strong box, or solid portmanteau, and it is important that your name and address should appear in full on every article.

As almost every person is now an occasional traveller, it would be well for each to provide himself with a proper Travelling Equipage, with his name and address engraved on a plate permanently affixed thereto. These will be supplied at a small cost by Mr. ALLEN, 22, Strand, Manufacturer, or by any other respectable Railway outfitter.

On Continental Railways the Passenger's Fare does not include the carriage of luggage, but a separate and additional charge is made for it. This custom has never prevailed in this country, but it has been the practice to calculate each fare so as to embrace an average quantity of luggage. The rule varies on different lines, but generally first-class passengers are allowed free 112 lbs. weight; second-class, 100 lbs.; and third-class, 56 lbs. All excess is liable to a heavy charge. If there be any reason to suspect that the weight of your luggage will exceed this scale, it would be best to forward the whole by Goods Train a day or two before the contemplated journey. An exception to this rule is sometimes made in favour of the samples of commercial gentlemen, but this exception is not uniformly admitted.

Avoid packing in Small Parcels, for they will prove a fruitful source of anxiety and trouble during the journey: have, indeed, as few packages as possible; and, after having seen that they are properly addressed, leave them in the charge of the Guard, who will deliver them to you at the termination of your journey. By no means thrust Bulky Packages under the seat of the carriage. Your property will not be any safer in your own custody than in that of the Guard, and, beside, in getting it in and out of the carriage, it will probably prove an inconvenience to your fellow-passengers. In the multiplicity of Railway affairs it may sometimes happen that, after all your precaution, your Luggage may be mis-sent. If this accident should occur, give notice of it immediately, and, for further safety, write on the first opportunity to

E. MORRISON, Esq.,
Railway Clearing-house, Euston Square, London.

This gentleman receives daily, from every first-class station in the kingdom, information of all missing luggage, and an application to him will generally afford a clue to the missing articles, unless they have been positively stolen.

Railway Companies do not hold themselves responsible for Luggage unless it be Booked; and Parcels of great value must be declared as such, and Insured, according to each Company's regulated charges. Neither are the Companies accountable for articles left in the carriages or "waiting-rooms," but such things are deposited in a room, and properly labelled, with the date, train, &c., upon which they are found. They are kept for a period of twelve months, when, if no claimant appears, they are advertised, and sold by auction, the proceeds going to the Company's general revenue.

For the better security of the property of passengers a "Cloak-room" is provided at the principal stations. Here articles may be left in charge of the Company's servant for a charge of 1*d.* or 2*d.* each; it is, therefore, wiser for passengers to avail themselves of this provision than to leave their property unprotected, and run the risk of its entire loss.

Be sure to be at the Station several minutes before the time for the departure of the train by which you propose to travel. Hurried excitement and bustle will throw you into a perspiration, which will be fatal to all comfort during your ride, and will expose you to the danger of catching cold.

Many travellers boast of their dexterity in catching the train at the last moment, but this habit displays a foolish vanity, and is attended with many risks. Be careful that the booking-clerk gives correct change and a proper ticket, as mistakes cannot be easily rectified after you have left the counter. Your ticket should afterwards be carefully preserved, for if it be lost you will be required to repay your entire fare. Should the ticket be afterwards found, or should other evidence satisfy the managers that you really did pay your fare at the proper time, the second fare will be returned, but this process of proof will subject you to much inconvenience and delay. To obviate this danger Mr. PORTHOUSE, 10, Northampton square, has invented a Ticket-holder, which may be hung round the neck by a small ribbon, or may be attached to the button of the coat by an elastic cord. They may be had at the stall of every station for a few pence. Besides securing the ticket from danger, they are always within reach when passengers are summoned to answer to the peremptory call, "Tickets ready."

If you have the opportunity select a seat with the back to the motion: thus you will avoid an annoying and dangerous draught which always blows on the opposite side. But should these favourite seats be already occupied, do not persist in having all the windows closed. It will generally be enough to close that one on the side from which the wind blows. Fresh air is of greater importance even than the avoidance of draughts, and, indeed, a Railway-carriage full of passengers, and with all the windows closed, will soon be filled with vitiated air that is insufferable, and suggestive only of the Black Hole of Calcutta. An improvement in the construction of Railway-carriages, which would secure ample ventilation irrespective of the windows, has long been demanded, but has not yet been attained. It is true that in some modern carriages small ventilators have been introduced above the windows, but these are very imperfect, and beside, in unpardonable ignorance, they are often closed by a class of travellers who have an invincible repugnance to fresh air.

To fortify yourself against cold and draughts a little attention to simple preparations is all that is required. A cap for gentlemen and a hood for ladies will sufficiently protect the face and neck. A rug will also add materially to comfort.

Smoking is strictly prohibited in Railway-carriages and at all Railway Stations. This is an excellent rule, and no gentleman of good breeding and of correct taste will ever attempt to infringe it. The fumes of tobacco soon fill the limited area of a carriage, add to the impurity of the air, already vitiated, and in many instances have caused persons to be seized with violent illness.

On no account whatever should passengers attempt to enter or to quit a carriage while it is in motion. Many sad accidents have resulted from this indiscretion, and therefore, by the bye-laws of every Railway Company, it is made an offence which very properly subjects the offender to a fine of 40s.]

For the accommodation of Invalids who require to travel in a reclining position, Bed-carriages are provided on most of the trunk lines; but, as this is a special arrangement, it is necessary to give three days' notice to the General Manager, and he will direct a proper carriage to be in attendance at any station, and for any train indicated in the instructions conveyed to him.

For the convenience of passengers residing in the country and attending London, or large Provincial towns, daily-periodical Tickets are issued to First and Second-class passengers. These Tickets are not transferable, and any attempt to transfer them will render them liable to forfeiture. They are granted for Weekly, Monthly, Quarterly, Half-yearly, and Annual periods; are not available by Special or Express trains, though this privilege is sometimes accorded. They must be produced whenever required by the Ticket Collectors, and payment must be made in advance.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT. INDIGESTION, ACIDITY on the STOMACH. These corrective and purifying Pills, assisted by the external application of the Ointment, will subdue these troublesome disorders, though assuming an infinity of forms, and under such disguise mocking the skill of the wisest physician. Their first action is to clear away all obstruction, purify the blood, regulate the secretions, and give tone to the stomach, and energy to the system generally. The cure they effect is not temporary or imperfect, but they work a most marvellous and universal change throughout the entire body, and enable it with renovated powers to resist the approach of future attacks on stomach or liver. They act, likewise, most wholesomely on the kidneys, spleen, bowels, circulation, and nerves. [78

Is, as its name implies, a Complete and Intelligible Guide to Railway Travel. It has, indeed, become indispensable to all who are in the habit of using any of the several lines that diverge from the Metropolis.

It is the original and the only genuine Work of the kind. It is found in the Government Offices, in the Clubs, Hotels, Public Libraries, and Reading rooms, and is fully recognised as an invaluable medium for Advertisements.

To its characteristic advantages is now added a Guide to Strangers in London, including all the principal places of public interest and of public amusement, also a list of London Hotels. Arrangements are in progress for a similar list of Provincial Hotels. The Traveller will thus be furnished at a single glance, both with a Railway and an Hotel Guide, the advantage of which must be obvious to all.

The plan of the Guide is as simple as A B C; the Stations are arranged in alphabetical order, and immediately beneath each are full particulars of the Arrivals and Departures to and from the Metropolis.

Published Monthly, price 6d.

HINTS TO RAILWAY TRAVELLERS.

Before proceeding on your journey, buy a copy of the A B C Railway Guide. There you will find that the Editor has already solved for you the mysteries of Railway complications, and has presented the information you require in clear and concise form.

Your Luggage should be securely packed in a strong box, or solid portmanteau, and it is important that your name and address should appear in full on every article.

As almost every person is now an occasional traveller, it would be well for each to provide himself with a proper Travelling Equipage, with his name and address engraved on a plate permanently affixed thereto. These will be supplied at a small cost by any respectable Railway stationer.

On Continental Railways the Passenger's Fare does not include the carriage of luggage, for which a separate and additional charge is made for it. This custom has never prevailed in this country, but it has been the practice to calculate the fare so as to embrace an average quantity of luggage. The rule varies on different lines, but generally first-class passengers are allowed free 150 lbs. weight; second-class, 100 lbs.; and third-class 56 lbs. All excess is liable to a heavy charge. If there be any reason to suspect that the weight of your luggage will exceed this scale, it would be best to forward the whole by Goods train a day or two before the contemplated journey. An exception to this rule is sometimes made in favour of the samples of commercial gentlemen, but this exception is not uniformly adhered to.

Avoid packing in Small Parcels, for they are a fruitful source of anxiety and trouble during the journey: have, indeed, as few packages as possible: and, after having seen that they are properly addressed, leave them in the charge of the Guard, who will deliver them to you at the termination of your Journey. By no means thrust Hand Packages under the seat of the carriage. Your property will not be any safer in the Guard's custody than in that of the Guard, and, in addition to getting it in and out of the carriage, it will probably prove an inconvenience to your fellow-passengers. In the multiplicity of Railway affairs it may sometimes happen that, after all your precaution, your Luggage may be mis-sent. If this accident should occur, give notice of it immediately, and, for further information, write on the first opportunity to,

L. MORRISON, Esq.,
Railway Clearing-house, Euston Square, London.

This gentleman receives daily, from every first-class station in the kingdom, information of all missing luggage, and an application to him will frequently afford a clue to the missing articles, which have been positively stolen.

The Railway Companies do not hold themselves responsible for Luggage unless it be Booked; and Parcels of any value must be declared as such, and Insured according to each Company's regulated charges. Neither are the Companies accountable for articles left in the carriages or "waiting-rooms," but such things are deposited in a room, and properly labelled, with the date, train, &c., upon which they are found. They are kept for a period of twelve months, when, if no claimant appears, they are advertised, and sold by auction, the proceeds going to the Company's general revenue.

For the better security of the property of passengers a "Cloak-room" is provided at the principal stations. Here articles may be left in charge of the Company's servant for a charge of 1d. or 2d. each; it is, therefore, wiser for passengers to avail themselves of this provision than to leave their property unprotected, and run the risk of its entire loss.

Be sure to be at the Station several minutes before the time for the departure of the train by which you propose to travel. Hurried excitement and bustle will throw you into a perspiration, which will be fatal to all comfort during your ride, and will expose you to the danger of catching cold.

Many travellers boast of their dexterity in catching the train at the last moment, but this habit displays a foolish vanity, and is attended with many risks. Be careful that the booking-clerk gives correct change and a proper ticket, as mistakes cannot be easily rectified after you have left the counter. Your ticket should afterwards be carefully preserved, for if it be lost you will be required to repay your entire fare. Should the ticket be afterwards found, or should other evidence satisfy the managers that you really did pay your fare at the proper time, the second fare will be returned, but this process of proof will subject you to much inconvenience and delay. To obviate this danger a Ticket-holder has been invented, which may be hung round the neck by a small ribbon, or may be attached to the button of the coat by an elastic cord. It may be had at the stall of every station for a few pence. Besides securing the ticket from danger, it is always within reach when passengers are summoned to answer to the peremptory call, "Tickets ready."

If you have the opportunity select a seat with the back to the motion: thus you will avoid an annoying and dangerous draught, which always blows on the opposite side. But should these favourite seats be already occupied, do not persist in having all the windows closed. It will generally be enough to close that one on the side from which the wind blows. Fresh air is of greater importance even than the avoidance of draughts, and, indeed, a Railway-carriage full of passengers, and with all the windows closed, will soon be filled with viriated air that is insufferable, and suggestive only of the Black Hole of Calcutta. An improvement in the construction of Railway-carriages, which would secure ample ventilation irrespective of the windows, has long been demanded, but has not yet been attained. It is true that in some modern carriages small ventilators have been introduced above the windows, but these are very imperfect, and beside, in unpardonable ignorance, they are often closed by a class of travellers who have an invincible repugnance to fresh air.

Google

Dr. JAMES' POWDER FOR FEVERS, &c. NEWBERY & SONS, St. Paul's Churchyard.
See last page.

To fortify yourself against cold and draughts a little attention to simple preparations is all that is required. A cap for gentlemen and a hood for ladies will sufficiently protect the face and neck. A rug will also add materially to comfort.

Smoking is strictly prohibited in Railway-carriages and at all Railway Stations. This is an excellent rule, and no gentleman of good breeding and of correct taste will ever attempt to infringe it. The fumes of tobacco soon fill the limited area of a carriage, add to the impurity of the air, already vitiated, and in many instances have caused persons to be seized with violent illness.

On no account whatever should passengers attempt to enter or to quit a carriage while it is in motion. Many sad accidents have resulted from this indiscretion, and therefore, by the bye-laws of every Railway Company, it is made an offence which very properly subjects the offender to a fine of 40*s.*

For the accommodation of Invalids who require to travel in a reclining position, Bed-carriages are provided on most of the trunk lines, but, as this is a special arrangement, it is necessary to give three days' notice to the General Manager, and he will direct a proper carriage to be in attendance at any station, and for any train indicated in the instructions conveyed to him.

For the convenience of passengers residing in the country and attending London, or large Provincial towns, daily-periodical Tickets are issued to First and Second-class passengers. These Tickets are not transferable, and any attempt to transfer them will render them liable to confeiture. They are granted for Weekly, Monthly, Quarterly, Half-yearly, and Annual periods, but not available by Special or Express trains, though this privilege is sometimes accorded. They must be produced whenever required by the Ticket Collectors, and payment must be made in advance.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—SLIGHT AND SEVERE DISEASES.

It is comforting and satisfactory to know that the operation of these famous Pills is not limited to the cure of those violent internal distempers for which they are successfully administered in England and Foreign countries. They act also as an immediate corrective in the lesser ailments incident to both sexes. Nothing excels them for curing the diseases of children, such as Colic, Constipation, Headache, Worms, and all Disorders of the Skin; they likewise regulate the digestion, and invigorate every organ to healthy action. In Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, and Spleen they invariably afford immediate relief and ultimate cure. In fact, in all complaints to which mankind is liable no medicine is so efficient. [93

HINTS TO RAILWAY TRAVELLERS.

Before proceeding on your journey, buy a copy of the A B C Railway Guide. There you will find that the Editor has already solved for you the mysteries of Railway complications, and has presented the information you require in a clear and concise form.

Your Luggage should be securely packed in a strong box, or solid portmanteau, and it is important that your name and address should appear in full on every article.

As almost every person is now an occasional traveller, it would be well for each to provide himself with a proper Travelling Equipage, with his name and address engraved on a plate permanently affixed thereto. These will be supplied at a small cost by any respectable Railway outfitter.

On Continental Railways the Passenger's Fare does not include the carriage of luggage, but a separate and additional charge is made for it. This custom has never prevailed in this country, but it has been the practice to calculate each fare so as to embrace an average quantity of luggage. The rule varies on different lines, but generally first-class passengers are allowed free 112 lbs. weight; second-class, 100 lbs.; and third-class, 56 lbs. All excess is liable to a heavy charge. If there be any reason to suspect that the weight of your luggage will exceed this scale, it would be best to forward the whole by Goods Train a day or two before the contemplated journey. An exception to this rule is sometimes made in favour of the samples of commercial gentlemen, but this exception is not uniformly admitted.

Avoid packing in Small Parcels, for they will prove a fruitful source of anxiety and trouble during the journey: have, indeed, as few packages as possible; and, after having seen that they are properly addressed, leave them in the charge of the Guard, who will deliver them to you at the termination of your journey. By no means thrust Bulky Packages under the seat of the carriage. Your property will not be any safer in your own custody than in that of the Guard, and, beside, in getting it in and out of the carriage, it will probably prove an inconvenience to your fellow-passengers. In the multiplicity of Railway affairs it may sometimes happen that, after all your precaution, your Luggage may be mis-sent. If this accident should occur, give notice of it immediately, and, for further safety, write on the first opportunity to

E. MORRISON, Esq.,
Railway Clearing-house, Euston Square, London.

This gentleman receives daily, from every first-class station in the kingdom, information of all missing luggage, and an application to him will generally afford a clue to the missing articles, unless they have been positively stolen.

Railway Companies do not hold themselves responsible for Luggage unless it be Booked; and Parcels of great value must be declared as such, and Insured, according to each Company's regulated charges. Neither are the Companies accountable for articles left in the carriages or "waiting-rooms," but such things are deposited in a room, and properly labelled, with the date, train, &c., upon which they are found. They are kept for a period of twelve months, when, if no claimant appears, they are advertised, and sold by auction, the proceeds going to the Company's general revenue.

For the better security of the property of passengers a "Cloak-room" is provided at the principal stations. Here articles may be left in charge of the Company's servant for a charge of 1*d.* or 2*d.* each; it is, therefore, wiser for passengers to avail themselves of this provision than to leave their property unprotected, and run the risk of its entire loss.

Be sure to be at the Station several minutes before the time for the departure of the train by which you propose to travel. Hurried excitement and bustle will throw you into a perspiration, which will be fatal to all comfort during your ride, and will expose you to the danger of catching cold.

Many travellers boast of their dexterity in catching the train at the last moment, but this habit displays a foolish vanity, and is attended with many risks. Be careful that the booking-clerk gives correct change and a proper ticket, as mistakes cannot be easily rectified after you have left the counter. Your ticket should afterwards be carefully preserved, for if it be lost you will be required to repay your entire fare. Should the ticket be afterwards found, or should other evidence satisfy the managers that you really did pay your fare at the proper time, the second fare will be returned, but this process of proof will subject you to much inconvenience and delay. To obviate this danger a Ticket-holder has been invented, which may be hung round the neck by a small ribbon, or may be attached to the button of the coat by an elastic cord. It may be had at the stall of every station for a few pence. Besides securing the ticket from danger, it is always within reach when passengers are summoned to answer to the peremptory call, "Tickets ready."

If you have the opportunity select a seat with the back to the motion: thus you will avoid an annoying and dangerous draught which always blows on the opposite side. But should these favourite seats be already occupied, do not persist in having all the windows closed. It will generally be enough to close that one on the side from which the wind blows. Fresh air is of greater importance even than the avoidance of draughts, and, indeed, a Railway-carriage full of passengers, and with all the windows closed, will soon be filled with vitiated air that is insufferable, and suggestive only of the Black Hole of Calcutta. An improvement in the construction of Railway-carriages, which would secure ample ventilation irrespective of the windows, has long been demanded, but has not yet been attained. It is true that in some modern carriages small ventilators have been introduced above the windows, but these are very imperfect, and beside, in unpardonable ignorance, they are often closed by a class of travellers who have an invincible repugnance to fresh air.

Dr. JAMES' POWDER FOR FEVERS, &c. NEWBERY & SONS, St. Paul's Churchyard.
See last page.

To fortify yourself against cold and draughts a little attention to simple preparations is all that is required. A cap for gentlemen and a hood for ladies will sufficiently protect the face and neck. A rug will also add materially to comfort.

Smoking is strictly prohibited in Railway-carriages and at all Railway Stations. This is an excellent rule, and no gentleman of good breeding and of correct taste will ever attempt to infringe it. The fumes of tobacco soon fill the limited area of a carriage, add to the impurity of the air, already vitiated, and in many instances have caused persons to be seized with violent illness.

On no account whatever should passengers attempt to enter or to quit a carriage while it is in motion. Many sad accidents have resulted from this indiscretion, and therefore, by the bye-laws of every Railway Company, it is made an offence which very properly subjects the offender to a fine of 40*s*.

For the accommodation of Invalids who require to travel in a reclining position, Bed-carriages are provided on most of the trunk lines; but, as this is a special arrangement, it is necessary to give three days' notice to the General Manager, and he will direct a proper carriage to be in attendance at any station, and for any train indicated in the instructions conveyed to him.

For the convenience of passengers residing in the country and attending London, or large Provincial towns, daily-periodical Tickets are issued to First and Second-class passengers. These Tickets are not transferable, and any attempt to transfer them will render them liable to forfeiture. They are granted for Weekly, Monthly, Quarterly, Half-yearly, and Annual periods; are not available by Special or Express trains, though this privilege is sometimes accorded. They must be produced whenever required by the Ticket Collectors, and payment must be made in advance.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Ease. For the cure of burns, scalds, wounds, and ulcers, this justly-celebrated Ointment stands unrivalled. Its balsamic virtues, immediately on application, lull the pain and smarting, protect the exposed nerves from the air, and give to the vessels the vigour necessary to heal the sore, and cooler on the blood a purity which permits it only to lay down healthy flesh in place of that destroyed. Holloway's Pills, simultaneously taken, must assist the ointment's purifying and soothing power. Together these medicines act like a charm. Travellers embarking for unwholesome climates, where pestilential airs are constantly producing fever, should provide themselves with these remedies, which will assuredly save them nights of watching and days of pain.
